Initial Opening of "Claudia" Tonight In N. H. Hall

Performance Marks First Production of Mask and Dagger in Over a Year

Tonight marks the initial opening of "Claudia," Mask and Dagger's first production after a year of inactivity due to war-time restrictions. Rose Franken's popular play deals with the growth of the irresponsible, childish Claudia into a young woman capable of bravely meeting two domestic crises—the approaching death of her mother, to whom she is excessively attached, and the realization that she, herself, is to become a mother.

The effective and attractive single setting of the play—a living room of a remodeled New England colonial farmhouse—is the result of designs submitted by Ann Arnold. The construction of the set was under the direction of Wesley Brett, instructor in the Arts Department.

J. Donald Batcheller, assistant professor of English, is in charge of production. The cast, listed in order of appearance, is as follows: Mrs. Brown, Natalie Fairchild; David Naughton, Murray Stern; Claudia Naughton, Barbara MacKay; Bertha, Jane Phipps; Fritz, Theofilos Aliapoulis; Jerry Seymour, Leon Stevens; Julia Naughton, Ruth Brown; Madame Darushka, Nancy Wassell.

The new members initiated are Rachel Adams, Norma Nirsch, Anna Karanikas, Constance Ledward, Margaret Tower, and Ruth Wadleigh.

Also present at the initiation were Miss Ruth Woodruff, Dean of Women, Mrs. Hangen, Mrs. Richards, Phyllis Deveneau, and Dr. Phillips.

The Women's Glee Club of 130 voices will sing Christmas music of Bach, Beethoven, Pergolesi, and Holst in addition to some settings of traditional carols. Soloists from the Glee Club will include Catherine Cotton, Anne Daukas, Claire Flynn, Anita Smith, and Eloise Braun.

The String Orchestra of twenty-five members will play works by Purcell, Grieg, and Holst. Assisting on the program will be the Rev. Clinton Condict who will give the scriptural reading.

All students and townspeople are invited to attend. Admission is free.

A.S.T.R. Mil. Ball Marks UNH Farewell

On Saturday evening, Dec. 9, the ASTR presented a farewell Military Ball at New Hampshire Hall, as its formal goodbye to UNH.

The highlight of the evening was the grand march, which was climaxed by the announcement of the crowning of the Queen of the Ball, Miss Marion Price of Malden, Mass. by Cadet Captain Alvin Nigrosh. Having done the honors, Lt. Col. Daley had the pleasure of dancing the waltz following the ceremony with Miss Price. The Queen's escort for the evening was Private Robert T. Murray.

The hall was illuminated by the colored reflections of a rotating crystal ball. Red, white, and blue streamers, together with crossed sabers and company flags hanging from plaques around the hall, gave a military atmosphere.

Col. Daley headed the reception line, which included Prof. and Mrs. Horace A. Giddings, Prof. and Mrs. Harold A. Iddles, Prof. and Mrs. William L. Kichline, Prof. and Mrs. Robert G. Webster, and Prof. and Mrs. G. Harris Daggett.

During the intermission Private Norman Wright formally bade Durham farewell for the ASTR unit. Private Schieber gave his famous rendition of "Rub-Adub" and "Errol" Flynn pleased the audience with two vocals.

Music for the dance was provided by Bob Allard and his band. Privates David Zwick and Philip Kooistia were in charge of refreshments.

Inaugural Ceremony of Dr. Stoke Sunday, December 17

Point System Passes By Landslide Margin

The point system, which has developed from an early idea of Women's Student Government to set up means of evaluating student campus activities, has with the enthusiastic support of Men's Student Council, become a reality and was approved by the student body by a landslide vote of 981 to 61.

The point system will serve as a sound merit record on which to base awards, such as who's Who. Under this system everybody rates points, and it will tend to protect individuals' interests so that no one governing group will be in control of a majority of campus activities.

Dr. Sackett is now making up cards which will be handed out to the presidents of all the active clubs on campus. It will be the responsibility of these presidents to see that the cards are filled out properly and are returned to Student Government or Student Council. It will then be up to these two organizations to compile the cards, which will have every student's activities tabulated.

At present, no limit has been set as to the number of points any student can accumulate. The main reason for setting no limit is that if the total number of accumulative points is beside a student's name, it will enable the student body to have some substantial evidence as to just what every student had done and on this past record, the voters can think and act wisely on their choice for candidates. They will tend to ask themselves whether or not they want a certain candidate, who may already have a large number of

Mascott Plays for Vet's Dance Saturday

The Student Veterans' Organization are presenting Dick Mascott and His Orchestra at their Annual Christmas Dance in New Hampshire Hall Saturday, Dec. 16, 1944. The purpose of this dance, and other affairs sponsored by the organization, is to raise a fund for the erection of a memorial on the campus in honor of the war dead of the University of New Hampshire.

This dance is the first official appearance of Dick Mascott and His Orchestra on the university campus and it consist of 15 pieces with Rosalie Lamonte and Brad Chase sharing the vocal honors. Bruce "Shorty" Bulger is the drummer and novelty artist extraordinary. Among the musicians of the band are members who have played in the various name bands of the country, such as Vincent Lopez, Les Brown, Mal Hallet and Bob Allard. The orchestra has some outstanding instrumentalists, novelty skits and it specializes in very smooth dancing arrangements.

Guests who will want to check their wraps will have to purchase a 10-cent War Stamp. All the sales of these stamps will go towards the 6th War Loan Drive. It is hoped that in this way the quota of the university will be passed.

The dance is to be an informal affair and during intermission refreshments will be served. The dance committee consists of Emil Soucy as chairman, Mike Coombs in charge of music, Cliff Martin in charge of decorations, Tom Davis in charge of refreshments, and Joe Thomas in charge of tickets and publicity. Ad Zachow, Bill Fortier and Burton Rounds will serve as provost marshalls.

The returns from the sale will go into the Jessie Doe Memorial Fund.

Rev. Maxwell Warns Against Materialism

"The demoralization of nations has come because material goods were given precedence above religious concepts," declared the president of Holy Cross, the Very Rev. Joseph R. N. Maxwell, S.J., at the Newman Club annual communion breakfast held Sunday at New Hampshire Hall. He backed up his statement by employing the use of concrete facts illustrating the downfall of France and Germany and the possibility of its occurrence in America.

Other distinguished guests who attended the tenth annual communion breakfast included the Hon. Charles M. Dale, governor-elect of the state of New Hampshire; the Right Rev. Monsignor Jeremiah S. Buckley, administrator of the diocese of Manchester; The Rev. Hector A. Benoit, D.D.; Dr. Harold W. Stoke, president of the university; Lieutenant Colonel Joseph F. Daly; and the Rev. Clinton Condict. The speakers were introduced by Miss Mary O'Neil, president of the club. Solos were rendered by Mr. John Conroy and Miss Claire Flynn.

The general chairman of the breakfast was Mjss Ruth Carens, of Newburyport, Mass., vice-president of the club. The breakfast followed the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, which was celebrated by the chaplain, the Rev. J. Desmond O'Connor.

UNH, a Literary Leader

One of the more unfortunate aspects of the war has been the over-emphasis of the importance of technical, mechanical and scientific knowledge, with the consequent submerge of those spiritual values and ideals which previously were an extremely important part of campus life.

The theory is that the arts are superfluous in war-time and can contribute nothing to victory. How dangerous this fallacy is can be demonstrated by the alarming materialism on campus, and the belief that the accumulation of wealth is the sole purpose of life.

The arts, and literature in particular, have made valuable contributions towards our victory over fascism. War correspondents, some of them fighting men themselves, have produced works that even the deepest post-war cynicism will not obliterate.

In peace-time the role of the University of New Hampshire was of such importance that it achieved nation-wide fame for the quality of its writing and for the ability of its writers who won prize after prize in national writing competitions.

The war brought an end to the publication of THE STUDENT WRITER, a yearly anthology of the best prose and poetry written on campus. This periodical attracted national attention and copies found their way to various sections of our land.

The success of writing on this campus is due largely to the able and inspiring leadership of Dr. Carroll S. Towle, Assistant Professor of English, whose firm conviction that "young people can do it" has served as an encouragement and aid to struggling writers.

Praised by the ATLANTIC MONTHLY in a recent issue as "the man who makes English sing at the University of New Hampshire," Dr. Towle is recognized as a master of technique, thoroughly familiar with the mechanics and intricacies of the art of writing.

Undoubtedly his greatest achievement is the annual Writers' Conference which he organized in 1938, and which has brought to Durham some of the outstanding writers of the age including Robert P. Tristram Coffin, Rolfe Humphries, John Holmes, Margaret Widdemer, and Bill Harris, who like and respect Dr. Towle, not only as a friend, but as an artist of the finest calibre.

UNH has too long slumbered. Our role as one of the leaders of American collegiate writing must be maintained. The tradition which the years have built up must not be forgotten. It is time for the thinking students on campus to effect a renaissance of writing, if we are to recognize the value of writing and its importance in our civilization. More than ever, humanity cries for writers of sympathy, understanding and ability.

Former UNH President, W. D. Gibbs, Passes Away

The University of New Hampshire received word recently that one of its former presidents and a former director of the agricultural experiment station, William David Gibbs, died Wednesday, December 6, at his home in Delaven, Wis. at the age of 75. Mr. Gibbs became president of what was then the New Hampshire College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts in 1903, a position he held until 1912 when he resigned.

During President Gibbs' administration the number of students increased from 111 to 315, the faculty from 20 to 48, the experiment station staff from 13 to 23, the courses offered from 120 to 276, the buildings from 6 to 15, the library from 9,000 volumes to 30,000, and the value of the plant from $135,000 to $500,000. The standards were generally raised, the debt cut in half, and the college, in every way, raised to a much more prosperous condition.

Funeral services were held for Mr. Gibbs Thursday, December 7, at his birthplace in Winchester, Ill.

College Chest Reports Drive Well Over Quota

The College Chest Drive for 1944-45 was a great success due to the fine effort of all students and organizations on the campus. The gross receipts amounted to $1699.63 which was $499.63 over the quota, and the average contributions per student was $.99. Due to the fact that the army unit on campus is much smaller than that of last year, the total student enrollment is less. Accordingly the quota was set at $1200. The fact that the drive went over the top showed that the same spirit of cooperation and interest evidenced in past years was present this year. The committee wishes to thank all the solicitors who helped make the drive a success.

A complete financial report on the distribution of funds received and expenses incurred will be found below. A balance of approximately $200 is retained each year to cover the expenses of the next year's committee and to insure the possibility of a more extensive publicity campaign if the committee feels this is necessary or desirable.

The balance from the 1943-1944 drive was $211.03. According to the students' opinion, as voiced on the solicitors' cards, they wished the funds distributed as follows: National War Fund, $388.68; National Welfare Benefits, $71.00; Red Cross, $284.75; World Student Service Fund, $139.30, and unallotted, $815.90. This adds up to a total of $1699.63, and there are total assets of $1910.66.

Administration expenses come to $40.02, and are spent as follows: postage, $4.74; rubber bands, $.60; poster board, $.10; voting booth and ballots, $4.61; postal cards, $1.30; solicitors' cards and posters, $12.50; letterheads and envelopes, $11.50 and printing, $4.67.

This left $1870.64 available for distribution and was allotted as follows: National War Fund, $600.00; Red Cross, $300.00; World Student Service Fund, $150.00; Student War Activities Committee, $50.00; Navy Relief Society, $50.00; Army Emergency Relief, $50.00; Pax Romana, $75.00; Salvation Army, $75.00; N. H. Society for Crippled Children, $50.00; N. H. Division for Cancer Control, $50.00; N. H. Children's Aid Society, $58.63; N. H. Tuberculosis Association, $50.00; President's Infantile Paralysis Fund, $50.00; American Friends' Service Commission, $50.00, and retained for next year, $212.01.

Campus Dorms Hold
Christmas Dances

The Christmas season was ushered into the Campus of the University of New Hampshire last Friday night, December 8, by Christmas dances held at West Hall, Sigma Beta, and Congreve South.

The West Hall Recreation Room was attractively decorated with Christmas trees, pine cones, and other Yuletide decorations. The large group present enjoyed dancing and refreshments, and Chester Lucy offered his services on the piano while Christmas carols were sung. Dean Ruth Woodruff and Mrs. Durance, house mother of East Hall, were the chaperones for the evening.

The living room at Sigma Beta was decked in Christmas boughs and candles and bright decorations. A warm, crackling fire was built in the fireplace and guests of Sigma Beta enjoyed a marshmallow roast and other refreshments. Dancing, and singing of Christmas carols comprised the remainder of the entertainment. The chaperones were Professor and Mrs. Schoolcraft and Mrs. Richards, house-mother at Sigma Beta.

Congreve South also held an open-house Christmas party last Friday night. There were several solos given, among them, Ellie Getter on the piano and Private Snyder who played some boogie tunes. Norma ODowd, Penny Cady, and Ellie Getter sang a few group songs. Cards and other games were played, as well as dancing and refreshments which were offered.

WILDCATCHINGS
by Jack McGinn

Well, after a week or so of batting around in the fog of the athletic situation at New Hampshire, yours truly has been led into the light by our very capable Director of Athletics Carl Lundholm.

It seems that this correspondent made a few erroneous statements concerning the Committee on Athletics but everything has been straightened out and all concerned are beginning to see eye to eye on the New Hampshire sports scene.

Many comments have been made on letters for the football team both pro and con and this column wishes to close the matter once and for all with a definite statement on the subject. The general consensus of opinion on the campus was that the team deserves numerals but not letters. In peace time a NH was earned by plenty of gruelling work and practice and a wearer of the same was a man of no mean ability. On the football field the squad had to and did prepare long hours for an eight or nine game schedule often times working five hours or more daily. These boys were really deserving of letters and their work cannot be compared with this season's informal squad with their four-game schedule and two or so hours of practice daily. The members of the team themselves did not feel that they deserved letters and the Committee on Athletics Awards has made a wise choice in their decision to award the boys Certificates of Participation.

The basketball picture although not developing very fast is moving right along and Hank Swasey will no doubt call out the candidates after the Christmas recess.

Looking over the Intramural League we find a fast and dogged battle going on for each victory. The League got off to a rather bad start but is now in full swing, thanks to the patience of Al Lahar and Mr. Lundholm.

Dis and Data

Bill Pizzano, iron man quarterback for the Wildcats this season was given honorable mention on the Boston Post's All-New England team. Bill, along with Dave Brown played every minute of the Wildcats' four games. Another football player, Al Miles has joined the Merchant Marine. Al filled the right guard post for the Snowmen and we feel sure that he will guard the sea lanes with the same vigor that characterized his playing.

Grade School Pupils
Have Own Broadcast

A novel experiment will be carried on Friday morning at 9:50 when five children from the seventh and eighth grades of the Durham Grade School will broadcast their own reviews of Christmas books from the University of New Hampshire radio station over WHEB. These eleven and twelve-year-old children chose their favorite books, and in reviews which they wrote themselves are recommending that they be given as Christmas gifts to children their own age.

The program will be under the supervision of Miss Jennie Lindquist, children's librarian at the Hamilton Smith Library. The following letter will serve to answer certain questions which have been raised of late concerning awards for participation in informal sports.

December 5, 1944
Mr. Claude Henry, President
Student Council
Campus

Dear Mr. Henry:

The Senate Committee on Athletics recently learned that the Student Council is concerned about the policy adopted by this committee relative to awards for participation in informal sports. The committee feels that it has no justification for reversing its previous action on the awarding of letters or numerals for informal sports at the University of New Hampshire. These awards are made only for participation and achievement in formal intercollegiate sports which require a higher degree of attainment than is expected or required of informal teams.

However, the committee recognizes that students who take part in activities supervised and financed by the university may desire some record of participation. We have agreed, therefore, that a "Certificate of Participation" shall be issued to students who take part in informal intercollegiate sports. Recipients of these certificates shall be determined by the Senate Committee on Athletics upon recommendation by the coach and captain of the team.

It has also been brought to our attention that there is some misunderstanding regarding the possible organization of an informal basketball team this year. For your information, the committee voted to have the university sponsor an informal basketball team which would play a schedule of not more than 8 games beginning about January 15, 1945, provided the Director of Athletics finds this feasible.

I trust that these statements will make our position clear and that you will convey this information to the Student Council and others interested.

Very truly yours,
L. W. Slanetz, Chairman
Senate Committee on Athletics

-- WAA NEWS --

Each house has been assigned a practice basketball game sometime between December 11, Tuesday, to December 21, Thursday. At the first practice each team should elect their captain, so that all the future material concerning the schedule can be sent to her. Also sign up for the days and hours on which it will be most convenient for your team to play during the tournament. If you have any questions concerning the basketball schedule, Penny Abbott or Lois Harney will try to help you.

Tournament games will begin after Christmas.

Dr. Rudd Speaks on China
Before International Club

The International Relations Clubs held its first meeting in the Trophy room in Commons on Thursday, December 7 with Dr. Herbert W. Rudd as guest speaker. Dr. Rudd spoke on our relations with China and said that there is no reason why our dealings with China in the post-war period should not be friendly and harmonious. General discussion followed his speech, and Dr. Rudd answered questions.

A business meeting was held and plans were outlined for future meetings. The next meeting will be held on January 11 in the Trophy Room. The topic for discussion will be announced. Norman Alexander, acting head of the government department, is the advisor of the International Relations Club, and he briefly described the purpose of the organization. The student committee in charge of these meetings consists of Murray Aisenberg, Dorothy Hansen, and Anna Karanikas.

NOTICE

Above the card catalogue in the library there is a collection of six student pictures from Mrs. Sackett's photographic department. The present group will run for a week. There will be other collections.

Youthful Penny Richards, '42 New House Mother at Sigma Beta

by Joyce Drouillette

"Where can I find the house-mother?" someone asked Penny Richards, at Sigma Beta.

"Why, I'm it!" answered Penny with a delightful smile. It's not a bit surprising that people mistake her for a student, she looks more like a member of the junior class than a graduate of '42. You've seen her on the campus, or possibly in one of your classes; you know her — dark hair parted in the middle, eyes deeply interested in all they look upon, slim, poised, attractive, and the owner of two darling cocker spaniels.

You may wonder, as we did, why Penny decided to take up the business of housemothering here at the university. It might be due to the fact that she and her husband Phil were both UNH graduates and married in Penny's sophomore year, or as Penny said, after trying a few other jobs "Durham looked good." Mr. Richards, an ensign in the Navy, used to teach sciences at Groton Prep School, as well as coach football; he's now somewhere in the Pacific.

Penny and Phil have had the little black spaniel, Topsy since they were married. Janitor "Jim" at Murkland used to hate them for bringing Topsy to classes (dogs were not allowed in the buildings). Topsy would sit in a corner mostly, but sometimes she would poke her head around the corner, and Jim would catch sight of her — it never failed. Penny used to take her to convos and Topsy laughed at everything. Topsy went with them nearly everywhere; however, when it came to tennis she was more hindrance than help since she invariably ran away with the balls.

Curious, as most humans, we wondered just how the Richards romance started. (No, Penny didn't mind telling us.) It began when a freshman living at Scott, she regularly got "stuck with telephone duty." Phil was going with a sophomore at Scott who was often late to the phone. The longer his girl took to come to the phone the more time he had to talk with Penny. It wasn't very long before he called without asking for the sophomore. Well, you know the rest.

While Topsy is a member of long standing in the Richards' family their brown spaniel, Scamper, has been with them only two years. The other day when Penny went to see the dean she took both dogs along. When she started back only Scamper was in sight. She whistled and whistled, still Topsy didn't come. Later in the evening, somewhat worried, she told the girls about it; — someone had seen a black dog that afternoon in Murkland. Penny went over to investigate. Sure enough there in the corner near the door, sadly alone, sat Topsy.

Penny (assisted by Topsy and Scamper) and Phil are each carrying out their jobs in today's world very successfully. We hope it won't be long before they're all together again.

POINT SYSTEM

points in another office, or whether they'd rather see a less prominent candidate in office who is as equally deserving of points.

This system which has now gone into effect will be retroactive. Students will be given points for all the offices they have held since they have been in college. The university will keep a copy of all the student's points on permanent file and will have them on hand for references and recommendations. The university has welcomed this system and will utilize it at any opportunity, for it promises to be an accurate system of evaluation of student activities.

If, after this system has been tried for a year or two, the students feel that changes should be made in it, they will have opportunities to amend the plan of the system. And if, at any time, students feel a limit should be established as to the total amount of points one can accumulate, they will have a chance to set this limit. However, it will not be possible to set a fair limit until this system has been tried for some time.

At the meeting of December 14, assembly and roll call will be at 19:00 o'clock followed by inspection. A class in code will be inaugurated and will be given to those members who have previously fulfilled the military requirements of CAP. The first period of the course will deal with the phonetic alphabet as is used by the Army Air Force. Later, actual code instruction will be given with the use of recordings of uniform rate signals. Coincidentally with this class there will be a class in Military Courtesy and Discipline for the women members of the flight. They will be given the opportunity of code instruction at a later date. The classes will be followed by a half hour period of drill instruction, after which CAP applications will be given to the members, and the procedure for filling them out, explained. They must be typewritten, and filled out in duplicate, and in addition, all those members who are under twenty one years of age must have their parents' consent in writing in the space provided. It is suggested that the applications be brought home during Christmas vacation so that they will be able to be turned in complete at the meeting of January 4th, at which time the group will be fingerprinted, measured for uniforms, and will have their pictures taken. Along with the application forms, CAP rating sheets will also be given to each member, to be partially filled out for purposes of classification. Bring a pen and notebook to this and future meetings.

At the present time the strength of the unit is approximately 100 people. It must be emphasized that regular attendance is a requirement for official CAP membership. The present status of the individuals in the local CAP unit is that of civilian volunteer and this will remain in effect until he is sworn in by taking the regular army oath.

At last week's meeting, two Army Air Force training films were shown: "The School of the Soldier," and the "School of the Squad." Following the showing of these pictures, Major Arthur Cheney of Concord conducted a lecture on CAP Orientation.
